WOOD BURNING ADVANTAGES.

Compared with using fossil fuels for heat (natural gas, propane, coal, etc.) wood is much more eco-friendly. It's considered "carbon-neutral," which means when it burns, it doesn't add additional carbon dioxide to the environment.

This is because in its natural state as a tree, wood absorbs carbon dioxide that's in the atmosphere.

During combustion, a balance is maintained.

If you live in a region that has occasional power outages throughout the winter, you know how valuable a heat source that is 100% self-contained can be.

With a dependable wood burning fireplace, you'll stay warm around the clock, regardless of your home's supply of gas or electricity .
